The Airedale Terrier Club Of Canada Fall Boosters

An entry of 10 Airedale Terriers made the day exciting and fun, it was extremely hot and most of the Airedales and all of the handlers, would have preferred being at home with air conditioning rather than being out under the hot sun. One or two of the Airedales showed good sense by wanting to stay under the tent in the shade rather than "Go Around" for the judge. Thankfully there was a slight breeze which brought some relief.

The judging table looked impressive, with the club medallions as "keeper trophies" in place, John Ross Vice President of the club handled that chore.

Our judge, Mr. Jack Kearly of Nova Scotia, awarded BEST OF BREED to Ch. Northcote's Madam Justice, Breeder: Terry Alloway and Esther O'Connor, by Ch. Kingaire Northcote Iceman ex Ch Northcote No More Heart Ache, Owner: Terry Alloway.

BEST OF OPPOSITE SEX was awarded to Ch. Digaires Winterhawk Murphy, Breeder: Shelley Primeau, by Ch Jafeica,s High Voltage C ex Aerial Maneuvers at Eerie, Owner: Shelley Primeau & R. & N. McCallum.

WINNERS BITCH went to Gardenaire Blue Ridge, Breeder: James Brown, by Ch. Lord Robin of Kingaire ex Ch Aerie,s Northcote Nike, Owner: John Hoffman and Cathy Grant.

BEST PUPPY was awarded to Junior Puppy Bitch, Ashcliff Wild Angel, Breeder: Larisa Vilensky & Margo Dupre, by Aireforce Earle Grey ex Traymars Zoot Zuit Riot, Owner: Larisa Vilensky and Igor Pustylinski

In the Obedience rings OT CH X Kingaire's Burnt Toast AGI, and best friend Sheena McKeegan took top Airedale Terrier honors earning HQS in Open and HQS Airedale Terrier in Trial, well done Sheena and Toast. Toast was bred by Esther and David O'Connor, by Ch Lord Robin of Kingaire ex Woodales Narration at Kingaire. Presentation of "keeper trophies" the bronzed medallions was made by Obedience Trial Chair Debbie Adkinson.

Sheena is trialing Toast in earnest this year, Toast is amassing points galore, they hope to make it to the top ten obedience dogs in 2002. We wish them every success.

The announced general meeting of the club did not take place, it was canceled due to illness. It is planned to hold the next general meeting of the ATCC at Fun day a notice of meeting date and place will be mailed to all members once it is prepared.

Roy Aitchison, the Floating Specialty Show Chair for 2003, has all the details planned and hopefully under control for the Floating Specialty to be held in Kitchener/Waterloo in May. Great auction items, exclusive auction items for the wine and cheese and many more surprises for all those attending. Get those coats ready and join us for a fun filled weekend.

The Airedale Terrier Club Of Canada held its fall booster in Mississauga, ON. Terrier judge was Mr. Benny Blid of Sweden . The Caledon show is one of the largest of the year in Canada, featuring many specialties and supported entries. The terrier group was approx. 150 dogs entered. Unfortunately, the Airedale entry was lower than we might like to see with 8 entered 3-1-2-1

Hunting for Recognition

ATCA Hunting Nationals Prove Airedale Ability

CH. M..J.'s the Right Stuff, JHV, SHFur is owned by ATCA President Steve Gilbert and Bonnie Gilbert of Lima, OH Isaac represents the Gilberts' dedication to the dual-titled, versatile Airedale.

Long before the American Kennel Club invented their Hunt Tests, Airedale Terriers were practical and competitive hunters. The Airedale Terrier Club of America (ATCA) is an AKC-member Parent Club which has played an active role in preserving and promoting Airedale hunting abilities through its 17-year development of a Parent Club Hunt Test program. The goal has always been to win wider recognition of the Airedale as a versatile hunting terrier, with a official record of such appearing in a dog's AKC pedigree. For the past three years the ATCA's Hunting/Working Committee has been in negotiations with the AKC for admission of Airedales to AKC Hunt Tests and/or the development of an alternative Hunt Test for all multipurpose dogs, including those terriers who don't fit into the earth dog mold.

These have not been easy negotiations. Although the American Kennel Club stresses the importance of its Performance Events program, Airedalers have found themselves stalemated just when progress was called for. And yet the dogs continue to hunt while the people talk — with much at stake for terriers in the future.

Earliest records in Airedale history suggest the breed was developed in the mid- to late 1800s from a blend of many breeds, but most tellingly, a cross between the old English Black and Tan Terrier and the Otterhound. This created a dog that could win the water rat hunting competitions enjoyed by the Yorkshire farmers who lived along the River Aire. The farmers also found these same dogs useful on barnyard vermin and for poaching birds from wealthy landholdings. And so the original function of the Airedale Terrier was to hunt everything that needed to be hunted.

By the early 1900's, dog writers characterized the Airedale as the ultimate "three-in-one" gundog.

"On the border between the bird dog and fur dogs," wrote Field and Stream editor Warren H. Miller in The American Hunting Dog (1926), "stands the Airedale, the one dog who can hunt both....Tackling bear or cougar, routing out woodchucks, jumping rabbits, tree marking squirrels, pointing grouse and quail, running pheasants, and retrieving any and all of them — the Airedale properly trained has done all these things in hundreds and hundreds of individual instances." The breed's courage, made even more legendary by its war dog service in World War I, helped make the Airedale the most popular breed in the United States in the 1920s.

But over-popularity took its toll. The nation's population moved from the country to cities, and hunting became recreational instead of a necessity. Specialized sporting breeds replaced the Airedale in popularity in home and field.

There has always been, however, a group of Airedale fanciers who appreciated their breed's hunting nature. That group coalesced in 1985 with the formation of the ATCA's Hunting/Working Committee. The Committee's petition to the AKC for admission of Airedales to AKC Hunt Tests in 1985 was refused, but hope for future admission was suggested if the ATCA would first develop a Parent Club Hunt Test program.

Steve Gilbert, now serving as ATCA President, was instrumental in starting the first "Hunting Working Weekend" in 1986 and seeing that annual event develop to the current "Nationals" and regional offshoots. From the very start, the H/W Committee was careful to follow every suggestion proposed by the AKC. They brought in sporting dog experts to conduct their workshops. They invited AKC observers. By 1994, they offered an official ATCA Hunt Test program under guidelines approved by the AKC. The three-prong program consists of an Upland Game (flushing) Test, a Retriever Test, and a Fur Test. Each test is offered on the Junior, Senior, and Master level. In addition, a dog that qualifies in all three segments receives the Versatile title, also offered on Junior, Senior and Master level. By 1996, the effort expanded with regional Hunt Tests offered in Michigan, Wisconsin and Kentucky.

And so the groundwork was well-established for the 17th Annual Hunting/Working Nationals weekend, which took place on March 22nd through 24th, 2002, at Buckeye Game Club near Columbus, Ohio. The 60 Airedales entered represented a cross-section of the breed: from champions to obedience and agility competitors, companions, former rescues, and farm dogs.

The importance of this gathering wasn't lost on the owners, some driving in from as far as Nebraska, New York, Wisconsin, Alabama, and Alberta, BC. Among those attending were six ATCA Board members, including the current and last past president of the Parent Club, reflecting the support the hunting revival effort enjoyed from its inception.

The three-day event involved extensive behind the scenes work by committee members and members of the Ohio River Valley Airedale Terrier Club, which hosts the event. Dorothy Miner, chairman of the Hunting/Working Committee, is a key person in the clockwork operation. She draws upon her experience as a former AKC Tracking judge to develop Fur Tests in accordance with AKC rules. However, she can't control the weather.

Friday's Fur Test day dawned COLD, with an even colder wind. The Airedales, noses ready, didn't seem to mind, even if their owners found it daunting. Before the tests, handlers reviewed the ground rules. All dogs run the course off-leash, one dog at a time. The dog must follow a raccoon-scented track through the woods, with the handler and judge following from a distance. When the dog finds the caged raccoon in the tree, the dog must bark to signal the find. Dogs entered in the Junior Fur Test follow a track of approximately 100 yards and need only give a signal bark. Senior and Master Fur Test entrants follow longer tracks, with distraction cross-scent trails and a caged "off-scent" critter just off the Master track. Advanced dogs must bark loud and long to announce their find.

Right, CH. Stone Ridge Dwy-Aire Annie, JHFur displays proper loud enthusiasm to announce finding the caged raccoon in the Junior Fur Test. Annie is owned and handled by Sheila Mors of Antioch, IL

Left, Warming up before the Fur Test, dogs meet a caged raccoon under controlled conditions. The warm-up site is off test grounds in accordance with AKC regulations. These Airedales are CH. Traymar's Comic Relief (mid-air) and CH. Westchester Traymar's Wild Rose, CD, both owned by Chris, Tom and Angie Halvorson and Margo Dupre.

This year eight Airedales qualified in the Junior Fur Test. There were four Senior Fur qualifiers and three Master Fur qualifiers.

Saturday's events involved the land segments of the Upland Game (flushing) and Retriever tests. The morning's Upland Game Test was judged by Bethann Roettger of North Branch, Minnesota, assisted by Jeff Coton. Both are experienced spaniel breeders and professional field trainers. The Junior Upland Test requires a dog to find and flush two pre-planted chukar while running the course, with the judges and gunners following. Senior dogs must flush and retrieve their birds, but more teamwork with the handler is reflected in rules such as no "uncontrolled" chasing of missed birds. The Master level Upland Test requires the dog to work in tune with the handler. This is proofed in the test's "Sit to Flush" exercise in which the dog flushes a bird; then sits on the handler's whistle; and only completes the retrieve when so signaled by the handler.

Right, Lead on MacDuff, CD, JHV, SHF, MHR lives in a Manhattan apartment and regularly trains at New York's finest spaniel and retriever clubs. MacDuff is owned and handled by David Morgan, president of the Airedale Terrier Club of Metropolitan New York

Saturday afternoon was for the land segment of the Retriever Test. AKC Hunt Test judge Peter Kaufman of Westlake, Ohio judged the tests. In the Retriever Test, the dog and handler come to the line to watch for birds being thrown or shot from a distant blind. On the judge's signal, the handler sends the dog to retrieve the bird. Junior dogs do one single retrieve. Senior dogs must be "steady to wing and shot," that is, sit-stay without being restrained by the handler even when they do "doubles," the exercise in which the dog holds steady while two birds are downed; must "mark" (remember) where the birds fell; then is sent to retrieve them both. Seniors must also do an extra "dead bird" retrieve in which they bring in a bird they didn't see fall by following their nose and handler's signals. Master dogs do all that, but extra finesse is expected.

The difficulty of these tests reflects an early decision by the H/W Committee to model the Parent Club tests closely on AKC Hunt Tests rules rather than run simplified "instinct tests" for which no special training might be needed. Since terrier owners usually aren't familiar with sporting dog training techniques, many owners started with the plan of entering an untried dog "just to see what he can do." The judges soon advised them that the test situation is not the place for preparatory training.

To that end, the Nationals weekend also includes training workshops intended for Airedales and owners with no prior hunting experience. Hal Standish, professional spaniel trainer from Three Rivers, Michigan, conducts a lively course of introduction to game and training techniques. Even owners who have no intention of continuing as recreational hunters enjoy the workshops as a chance to see how their Airedale takes to the field.

On Sunday, Airedales and owners returned for the third and final day of the Nationals. This was the day for the water retrieving segments of the Upland Game and Retriever tests. All the dogs who had passed the requirements of the land portions of the tests were called back to do the water work required for the test qualification.

With the team of judges working together, each dog and handler was called to the line on the bank of a pond. Across the pond, bird handlers behind a blind would release a duck which gunners dropped in the pond. Junior dogs are required to willingly enter the water and bring back the duck. Senior dogs must be steady on the line for the "double," in which two ducks are downed while the dog "marks" their fall and is then sent to retrieve both. The Master dogs do the even more difficult triple retrieve. Like the double, two ducks are put in the water and the dog has to bring both in. While the dog is bringing in the second bird, a third shot rings out and another bird drops in the water. The dog must complete the second retrieve, then reenter the water to bring in the third duck.

This year two Airedales qualified for Junior Hunter Flushing [JHF] titles. There were three Senior Hunter Flushing [SHF] qualifiers, and two Master Hunter Flushing [MHF] qualifiers. In the Retriever Test, there were two Junior Hunter Retriever [JHR] qualifiers, one Senior Hunter Retriever [SHR] qualifier, and one Master Hunter Retriever [MHR] qualifier.

Even while participants were congratulating themselves on this year's success, there was an undercurrent of tension when considering the future of Airedale hunting events. When the AKC admitted Standard Poodles to AKC Retriever Tests in June, 1998, it seemed a precedent was set for Airedales to make a similar request. This was even more obvious when the H/W Committee looked at Poodle statistics. Compared to Airedales participating in ATCA hunting events, there were relatively few accomplished Poodles in the field. Nor was there an extensive involvement by the Poodle Club of America or a wide regional distribution of Poodle hunting events and interest.

So with confidence, the H/W Committee submitted a 167 page "Proposal for the Admission of Airedale Terriers to AKC Spaniel and Retriever Hunt Tests" in April, 1999. It took only three days for William Speck, Vice President of AKC Performance Events Division, to send a letter of refusal, dismissing all the Parent Club's evidence without due consideration.

In July of 1999, the H/W Committee resubmitted the admission proposal directly to the AKC Board of Directors. That brought about a compromise result, or so it seemed at first. AKC Hunt Tests would not be opened to Airedales, but instead the AKC proposed the development of a new kind of Multi-Purpose Dog Hunt Test, which would be open to breeds which could handle fur, flushing, and retriever work. This should mean that all terriers and any of the continental all-purpose sporting breeds such as German Wirehair Pointers, Vizslas or Weimaraners might participate, as well as any other breed that could do the work.

However, once the AKC Performance Event team was left in charge of working out the details of the tests with ATCA representatives, the concept was shifted through a series of more and more restrictive stipulations. In the most recent round of negotiations, during the sanctioning stage, there would have to be twenty Multi-Purpose Dog Hunt Tests per year with a minimum of 40 dogs entered per test. Considering that each test must have grounds, game, and staff for fur, flushing, and land and water retrieving, these would be difficult to implement. An added caveat was the AKC declaration that any breed that could already participate in AKC Performance Events (not including obedience, agility, or tracking) could not participate in the Multi-Purpose Hunt Test. That eliminated all sporting dogs, herding dogs, lure coursers, and all terriers breeds which are eligible for Earth Dog Tests. As a postscript, the AKC Performance Division reps faxed their list of only 16 breeds they felt should participate in the new Multi-Purpose Dog Hunt Tests. The list included Airedales, Irish Terriers, Kerry Blues and Wheatens. It also included apparent non-hunters, such Portuguese Water Dogs, Akitas, and Chows.

As one H/W Committee member remarked, "First they raised the bar so high we couldn't get over it, then they cut us off at the knees to boot."

However, ATCA president Steve Gilbert leads a tough group of terrier people who will not give up.

"It's clear we won't get anywhere with these tests as they stand now, but with some modifications, they are worth pursuing," Steve said. "After all, the traits that have their purpose in hunting – a dog's prey drive, his gritty determination, a good nose – are things that will fade away if they aren't preserved and promoted. We've seen that in breeds such as Cocker Spaniels and conformation lines of many sporting breeds. If terrier breeders appreciate the original qualities of their dogs and want to maintain them, we suggest its important for them to test for those traits and want to have a permanent record of their dog's hunting abilities on its AKC record."

The ATCA will continue working with AKC representatives on suitable tests for multi-purpose breeds.

"If you — or better yet, you and members of your breed club — feel this is important," adds Steve Gilbert, "let's work together on it. We're sure there are lots of terriers out there who can do what our dogs do. And they deserve to be recognized for it." Steve Gilbert can be contacted at 419/991-7430 or steve1004@aol.com

UNDERSTANDING THE VACCINE CONTROVERSIES

The correct regimen for vaccinating dogs currently is one of the most hotly debated topics in veterinary medicine. The Wall Street Journal ran 2 articles on vaccination and the issue of titer testing on July 31, 2002. Although the issue has come to the forefront of pet owners and breeders with greater attention over the last 5 years, the investigation of vaccine practices has been ongoing for well more than a decade. At the heart of this vaccine debate is the safety of our dogs. The possibility that in an effort to protect our dogs we could actually expose them to harm is intolerable. Almost every veterinary teaching college or university in this country has some level of study probing the vaccine controversy. The debate is likely to continue for some time until evaluation of frightening case reports and research data bear out statistical risks associated with current practices. It is crucial that we educate ourselves about this debate.

While considering the safety for our dogs we must give special emphasis on those with already compromised immune systems, active disease, or advanced age. There is mounting evidence on the growing dangers resulting from over vaccination. Compelling examples suggest many of our dogs have immune systems that are overwhelmed by the administration of these vaccines. Countless dollars have been spent by dog owners after experiencing adverse immune complex reactions, onset of endocrine abnormalities, anaphylactic episodes, central nervous system failure, hematological conditions, multiple organ failure, seizures, and a host of other fatal or near fatal experiences. There have been documented problems with various contaminated vaccine lots causing health issues and some deaths since the early 90's.

Foremost is the experience of most dog owners, the vast majority of whom have followed the traditional regimen of annual vaccinations with no apparent harm. A spontaneous demand for change is not likely from this source. Reinforcing this belief are laws and requirements of airlines, boarding kennels, training programs, and other entities that routinely demand documentation of current immunizations in order to accommodate the dogs. However, the key to both the maintenance of the status quo and any potential change is undoubtedly the general practice veterinarian.

Of major concern in this controversy is the economic impact of vaccine delivery to the clients of a veterinary practice. In many clinics, vaccinations may be responsible for up to 50% of the entire revenue generated by the clinic. Loss of annual vaccinations would be a devastating reduction of revenues to such a practice. Annual vaccinations are directly associated with additional monies generated from preventative check-ups, diagnostics, and potential early detection of illness. Some also mention their concern that a departure from the recommended regimen could expose them to liability issues. Many clinics are not ready to accept that much of this revenue stream could be recaptured by titer testing for protective immunity levels coupled with annual check-ups. Several diagnostic laboratories are performing titer tests for Rabies, Distemper, Parvo, Corona, Leptosporosis, Lyme, Hepatitis(Adenovirus), Parainfluenza, and Bordetella. Human vaccine manufacturers have gone to exhaustive efforts to evaluate and determine protective antibody levels needed to adequately guard against the challenge of certain diseases for their products. This practice has significantly reduced the vaccinations needed for young children. Some of these same manufacturers have failed to employ comparative standards for canine and feline vaccines to ensure effective protection against many diseases and re-access the need for yearly vaccinations.

Some work has been done in the area of measuring immunity levels and duration of antibody protection of some vaccine preparations in dogs. A recent publication from Dr. Larry Glickman of Purdue University, suggest a correlation of significantly elevated thyroglobulin antibody levels to recently vaccinated dogs of 2 populations. More work is needed to demonstrate if this early rise in antibody level signals later thyroid problems in these dogs and what adverse effects may develop. As the vaccine debate grows the number of studies and publications will hopefully bring a clearer directive for future vaccine requirements.

Not vaccinating at all is certainly NOT an alternative.

Most of the diseases that we vaccinate for are "killers." Some veterinarians and vaccine manufacturers are beginning to offer new recommendations on puppy immunizations as well as different guidelines for the older dog, and those with compromised health. Most agree to give space for the administration of vaccines. Do not get all their shots in a single visit. Be assertive and proactive with your veterinarian. You may be one of only a few challenging the conventional wisdom for vaccine practices. If your vet chooses to not listen and seems to not be informed perhaps it is time to re-evaluate your relationship. Evaluate the older dogs and consider titer testing them before giving shots. We need to keep better records and notes of the experiences that we have with our dogs and the vaccines that they receive. Comparing notes with other breeders and pet owners sometimes can lead to remarkable discoveries. Lastly, one important consideration to remember is that veterinarians generally are doctors, not scientists. Most do not possess commanding knowledge of immunology. Only in some larger practices or those offering specialized services may there be on staff a veterinarian that also has a graduate degree in some biochemical area. The general practice veterinarian may have little or no understanding of the mode of delivery, biochemical structure and pathways, and physiological roadmap of these compounds and how they may effect our dogs. The next few years will be a tremendous learning curve for veterinary medicine, pharmaceutical manufacturers, breeders, and dog owners. With participation from all; hopefully we will attain healthier dogs and a better understanding and respect for all those involved in this changing time.

It is not possible to cover all the theories, hypotheses, and arguments and in the vaccine debate in this one article. Indeed, given the volume of research currently in progress, information changes rapidly, and, accordingly, a glossary of terms frequently encountered in the vaccination literature is appended to assist you in your continuing education. Perhaps in a future article we will look at some of these published articles in detail to further our knowledge and understanding of vaccination for our dogs.

Terms important in understanding vaccine protection

ANTIGEN A molecular structure of varied complexity that allows a dog's body recognizes as an invader ordering the immune system to launch an attack. This attack will be conducted by many of the body's special white blood cells called lymphocytes if the body does not recognize the presence of a protective army already in place from a vaccination against that particular antigen or a previous encounter with the disease.

ANTIBODY Small proteins that are produced by specific B cells as a result of the body's encounter with different bacteria, infections, or virus. These small proteins act as protective shields and attach themselves to antigens of the diseases and prevent the diseases from further replicating, thus stopping the production of the disease.

MATERNAL ANTIBODY The antibody protection against specific diseases given to puppies from the dam via the placenta during development or through the first milk called colostrum.

IMMUNIZATION The process of administering protective compounds to protect a body against infection.

IMMUNITY The body's recall of protection against a disease derived from its response to a foreign attack as produced by the immune system. The body then recalls this immunity or protection when it encounters this disease at a later point in life.

ACTIVE IMMUNITY The protection produced by the body's immune system when it directly encounters a disease, bacteria, infection, or virus.

CELL-MEDIATED IMMUNITY The protection generated by the body's special line of white blood cells (lymphocytes) that attack a foreign pathogen and destroys the invader.

HUMORAL IMMUNITY The protection generated by antibody production manufactured by B cells.

PASSIVE IMMUNITY The protection given to a puppy from its mother at birth to a disease without coming in direct contact with the disease, bacteria, infection, or virus.

IMMUNE COMPLEX The binding of antigen and antibody systems from vaccines or other compounds that often form products or complements that can indiscriminately bind to specific immune sites sending the body's defense system misinformation which allows it to be ineffective against some diseases or even cause immune associated conditions which fight the body's own systems. Sometimes the formation of this by-product or complement can attack the body's individual cells which can lead to many serious conditions or even organ failure and death

IMMUNE SYSTEM The body's first line of defense or natural barrier against disease. The immune system is also the body's army that utilizes many different forces to attack specific foreign bodies as they attack the body.

RECEPTOR The specific sites located on antigen molecules that allow the antibody proteins to bind and stop production or spread of a specific disease.

TITER A protective level of antibody present in the dog's body to ward off an attack of a specific infection, disease, or virus that the body views as foreign. The level of titer is determined to be effective when the body is challenged by the specific disease and no symptoms of the disease presents itself.

VACCINE A protective compound given to prevent the spread of a specific disease.

MODIFIED LIVE VACCINE A compound derived from live disease causing agents and altered in laboratory production to provide the body with protection against a specific disease without causing the disease itself.

KILLED VACCINE A compound produced from live viruses or bacteria, killing them, and then installing them into a laboratory material that is given to provide the body with protection against a specific disease.

RECOMBINANT VACCINE These compounds are produced by taking only a portion of a specific virus or bacteria and manufacturing them in large quantities to produce vaccines that offer protection against specific diseases.

MONOVALENT VACCINE A compound produced to provide protection to the body against only one disease such as rabies.

MULTIVALENT VACCINE A compound that has been developed to provide protection against more than one disease such as DHLPP.

The Airedale Terrier Club of Canada
Executive Meeting
Monday 13 January 2003
Milton Senior Centre, Milton, Ontario

Present: Elaine, John, Debbie K, Valerie, Sheila, Pat, Roy Absent with apologies: Debbie A

Review and Approval of Previous Minutes - The minutes of the executive meeting held on 30 Oct 02 were reviewed. Motion to accept the minutes as printed - John. Seconded Roy. All in favour.

Floating Specialty 2003 - Both judges have accepted the judging assignments and have confirmed they will be attending the dinner/auction. Roy informed us that Raymond LaRiviere would be our ring steward. Roy is currently working on the auction and has a list of the items that will be auctioned. Roy has given Pat the okay to see what is available at the US auctions in St Louis. Pat has $60.00 US to buy auction items. The auction has a shortage of figurines, so Pat will see if there are any figurines available that fit our budget. Roy is encouraging all to enter the unofficial classes. As these are new classes they will take some time for people to be aware of them and therefore entries will be slow to start. Roy is making arrangements for a hospitality room for a pre-dinner gathering of the clan. Roy will compare the cost of a meeting room with the cost of a suite. There will be an opportunity to bid on 2 special auction items available only at this gathering. Elaine will forward last years written description of the Specialty and one pager with details to Roy to be amended and updated and sent out with the mailing and the King's Herald. Roy is looking into judges - conformation and sweeps - for the 2004 Specialty.

Calgary Specialty 2003 - nothing new reported at this time.

Policy and Procedures - There was no response to Valerie's email with the updated Policy and Procedure on Boosters and Specialties however recent events suggest we need to take another look at the wording. Elaine asked everyone to please re-read the email and this will be discussed at the next Executive Meeting.

Website - The Executive had secured a website name and has been paying annually to reserve it. It is now time to proceed. John Ross moved that The Airedale Terrier Club of Canada develop a website for the advancement of the Airedale Terrier. Seconded by Roy. All in favour. Next step - the board members are to prepare ideas/material for our website for the next Executive meeting.

Trophy Chair - Sheila will contact Rayberts to see if it is possible to order all our medallions for the 2003. Does Raybert's have the storage to do this? Sheila will report back at the next Executive meeting. Sheila brought in a sample of material for tablecloths for the trophy table. It is the same royal blue as our Airedale banner. Excellent work Sheila. Sheila reported that Ron Ditner has been proceeding with building the cases for our trophies. To date he has completed 5 of the 12 cases. Many thanks for Ron for his hard work. Elaine asked Sheila to bring one of the cases to the next meeting. Discussion ensued regarding the Certificates of Achievement. Members are reminded with the annual mailing to submit their list of titles achieved in the previous year. The Certificates have been handed out at previous Wine and Cheese evenings, AGMs and mailed. Don Adkinson has been kind to provide the certificates each year on behalf of the Club. John Ross made a motion that the Trophy Chair continues to present the annual certificates of achievement. Seconded by Roy. All in favour. It was decided the certificate request form would be given to Terry Stiles to add to the annual mailout done in early February. The forms will be sent back to Sheila who will produce the certificates and mail them out to the owners.

Any Other Business - Debbie informed us she would be renewing the club insurance. The renewal is $286.20. Caledon Kennel Club has been contacted to notify them we will have one of the Ontario boosters there in November 2003. Caledon responded that they were meeting to discuss judges and would get back to us as soon as their judges are confirmed/approved. John will contact the Kawartha Kennel Club about having a booster there in July 2003. John is doing this on behalf of Valerie. John will get the info to Pat and/or asap. If this is suitable John will proceed with the arrangements. John will contact Limestone Kennel Club as a backup. We received a letter from the Sportsman Show asking if we would like to have a booth. Elaine informed us she would not be reporting Canadian Airedale news to the UK for their newsletter - this will be done by Helen Arnold.

Motion to adjourn the meeting - John. Seconded by Sheila. All in favour.

Next Executive Meeting - Monday 17 February 2003.

Current agenda items for next meeting:

2nd Ontario booster

AIREDALE FLOATING SPECIALTY

This year we Airedalers have a great year ahead of us. We not only have the regular shows we have always attended but get two yes two great "specialty" weekends to get out and strut our "stuff". I'll leave the "bragging" for the folks out west for the National Specialty to keep you updated and I'll focus on the "Floating Specialty" here in Ontario.

As I am sure most of you know the floating specialty will be held in conjunction with the K-W Kennel Club's All Breed Conformation shows and Trials May 17 - 19, 2003 in Kitchener, Ontario. The weekend will be packed with activities for our canine friends to participate in. The judges for the regular K-W breed classes will be Saturday Tim Doxtater, Sunday Elaine Young and the holiday Monday Doreen Marsh. There are 2 Obedience Trials each day so you really dedicated souls will have your opportunity here to get 6 trials in one weekend. As well on Monday, there will be Agility Trials for you to compete in and earn your CKC recognition.

There will be Junior Handling competition on the Sunday. All juniors must be registered with the Show Secretary before 11:00 am on Sunday. Any wins earned by the handlers will be credited to their CKC Junior handling competition.

The Obedience rings will be very busy all weekend but we hope even more so on the Sunday as this is the Obedience Booster that is held in conjunction with our Floating Specialty. Mr. Clint McEvoy will put the dogs through their paces and whether you are entered or not we trust we will see you at ringside cheering these "smarty pants" into the qualifying ribbons.

The Terrier Breeders Association of Canada will have first crack at spotlighting the Airedales as they roll out their Specialty on Saturday, May 17, 2003. Long time terrier judge Ric Chashoudian will have charge of the ring and I am sure his critical eye will be watching for the "cream of the crop".

The Floating Specialty will be held on Sunday, May 18, 2003. I do not have a time as yet but every effort will be made to ensure there is enough time between activities to allow everyone to participate. Mr. Henk Bennik will start the specialty with the Puppy Sweepstakes. Henk has indicated is pleasure at receiving this assignment so that he may see how the breed has matured since his breeding and showing days. Great opportunity for you to have one of the "ole" hands judge your dog. Following the "sweeps" will be the Regular classes presided over by George Gordon. Mr. Gordon is a well-respected "terrier" in his own right and we are pleased to have him with us for this specialty. Following the Regular classes we will hold the "Unofficial" classes. For those of you who are no longer showing in the regular classes this will be an opportunity for you to still be an active part of the show. This is the first year we will be offering the "Altered Classes" and we hope it will be an annual event with each of our Specialties.

As with any of our "Specialty" weekends there will be meetings etc to attend and new friends to meet and old hands to welcome back. Please plan on making this weekend one of your show stops throughout the year and come out and support the "King"

Roy Aitchison
2003 Floating Specialty Chair.

The Week of the Airedale!

The Airedale Quilting Bee, famous for the quilts raffled each year at the Montgomery Speciality, has made a quilt that will be raffled off during The Week of the Airedale in St. Louis, March 29 through April 5, 2003! That's only a couple months away!

This new quilt, named "Home at Last," has a central medallion made by Christie Williams based on her own "Home at Last" drawing of a puppy sleeping on a quilt. Around the beautiful central medallion, the blocks are laid out in four quadrants and display Airedales enjoying life in the four seasons. See the quilt at <http://www.airedaleterriers.org/hal/> and click on each block to read the bio of the artist!

You can order your raffle tickets by mail or through PayPal. Ordering info is at <http://www.airedaleterriers.org/hal/>. For each 5 quilt raffle tickets you buy at one time, you will receive a bonus ticket putting you in the raffle for a basket of goodies that includes the special little Home at Last Woolie-'Dale that Carol Usher created based on the central medallion, lying on his own little quilt made by Linda Cunningham. He is just adorable.

There will be an additional drawing for a soft-sided crate stuffed with goodies for your Airedales.

A free raffle ticket will be drawn each day from entries correctly answering "The Question of the Day" on the website.

We hope that you will be able to attend all of the exciting events during The Week of the Airedale, but if you will not be able to attend, you do not need to be present to win the quilt or the bonus prizes.

Canadians involved in the quilt are Pascale Black, Helen Arnold and Stephanie Coulshaw.

All proceeds go directly to the ATCA Rescue & Adoption Committee. Thank you for your support.

AND FOR THE MEN...

Reasons dogs are better than women:

1. The later you are, the more excited they are to see you.
2. Dogs will forgive you for playing with other dogs.
3. If a dog is gorgeous, other dogs don't hate it.
4. Dogs don't notice if you call them by another dog's name.
5. A dog's disposition stays the same all month long.
6. Dogs like it if you leave a lot of things on the floor.
7. A dog's parents never visit.
8. Dogs do not hate their bodies.
9. Dogs agree that you have to raise your voice to get your point across.
10. Dogs like to do their snooping outside rather than in your wallet or desk.
11. Dogs seldom outlive you.
12. Dogs can't talk.
13. Dogs enjoy petting in public.
14. You never have to wait for a dog; they're ready to go 24 hours a day.
15. Dogs find you amusing when you're drunk.
16. Dogs like to go hunting.
17. Another man will seldom steal your dog.
18. If you bring another dog home, your dog will happily play with both of you.
19. A dog will not wake you up at night to ask, "If I died would you get another dog?"
20. If you pretend to be blind, your dog can stay in your hotel room for free.
21. If a dog has babies, you can put an ad in the paper and give them away.
22. A dog will let you put a studded collar on it without calling you a pervert.
23. A dog won't hold out on you to get a new car.
24. If a dog smells another dog on you, they don't get mad, they just think it's interesting.
25. On a car trip, your dog never insists on running the heater.
26. Dogs don't let magazine articles guide their lives.
27. Dogs like to ride in the back of a pickup truck.
28. Dogs are not allowed in Bloomingdale's or Neiman-Marcus.
- And 29. If a dog leaves, it won't take half your stuff.

Regional Reports

Hello from the Belle Province. 2002 was a great year for Quebec's breeders.

Louise and Johanne (Kalua-Dabsquoui) Ch. KALUA DABSQUOUI SEVEN OF NINE (Int. Ch. Reydale Prince Of Thieves X Kalua Dabsquoui Khemosabi) presented us a litter of 6 beautiful puppies sired by Ch. PRINCE DALE EXPRESS. They were born October 19, 2002: 3 males & 3 females. Seven will be bred again next year and we hope we could keep one this time.

Ch. KALUA DABSQUOUI KATCHINA will be bred at her next season. We are trying to locate a male in the States. Last year, she was bred to Am. Ch. STONE RIDGE MORAIN MAN O' WAR. 8 puppies were the result of this fine litter. Our little Isabeau (KALUA DABSQUOUI ISABEAU) is at 2 points toward her championship. She went Best Puppy In Group and we are very proud of her. Ch KALUA DABSQUOUI KOBRA (another daughter of Ch. Princedale Express X Kalua Dabsquoui Khemosabi) finished her Championship in grand style: she went Best Of Winners in Kitchener for a 4 points and at her next show, took 3rd in Group. She is our 25th Champion! We still owe her a celebration party! We are also proud to be part of this big family of the ATCC and we wish everyone, the best for 2003.

Julie at André (Graffiti). GREAT year 2002 with group placements on CH. GRAFFITI WAS MADE FOR LOVING U CGN. (Ch. Graffiti Octave too sexy for u CD. CGN. CGC. TT. X Ch. Graffiti dont talk just kiss CD. CGC. CGN.) and new Canine Good Neighbour.

Her full brother CH. GRAFFITI SO SEXY HUGO BOSS CD. TT. CGC. CGN. took his CD title in one weekend with two 2nd and two 4th place in Novice B with highest aggregate score for the weekend. CH. GRAFFITI TALK ABOUT MY GIRL CD. CGN. CGC. (Ch. MJ Robaire Night Sun Dancer CDX. JHDF. X Ch. Kalua Dabsquoui K Lip Graffiti CGC. CD.) finished the 2002 in grand style. She obtained her CD. title with HIC, 1st, two 3rd and 4th in Novice B class.

We want to thank Ginette Miron, Yvon Legault, Debbie and Sheila Adkinson for their support at Montgomery.

In April 04-05-06, the first shows of our Québec's season will be held in Sherbrooke and we looking forward to seeing you...

All Is Quiet Here On The Eastern Front! However, we are kicking off 2003 with the Halifax Kennel Club's All Bred Show on February 8th and 9th. We are very pleased to see that there is an entry of seven Airedales, and that six of them are Specials. Also, The Atlantic Terrier Association is hosting its sanctioned match the first weekend in February in Enfield, Nova Scotia. Lee Steeves (Regalridge) is our judge. So despite the snow and cold weather, things are starting to take shape here on the east coast.

Carole Kane reported in the December issue of the American Airedale, that "Two Eastern Airedales - Ch Regalridge Leader Of The Pack and Am./Can. Ch Penaire Dallas Star won coveted invitations to compete at the prestigious 'Show of Shows' in Ottawa." Both dogs had won BIS', Nickolas three and Dallas two for the year 2002.

Lee Steeves reports that she has a nice young litter out of Ch Regalridge Leader of the Pack and Regalridge Tartan Tex's Reba. We hope to see these youngsters out at the shows come spring.

As we all know, our Airedales love the snow and cold weather but personally, I am looking forward to Spring and some outdoor shows. Hope to see everyone soon.

Joan Clake

Carole Kane, Hollytroy

January 2003 started off with a bang, quite literally, when on January 2nd on my way to work a car ran a stop light and put both me and my Suzuki out of business, me for a few days, the van for a month.

With the new year in mind I'd like to offer best 2003 wishes to all for good luck and good winnings, of course, that doesn't hold when I'm in the ring with you.

At Hollytroy January is usually known as the will I or won't I month. However, I think D-day has arrived as barely a day goes by that our Maritime Show List does not issue an invitation to attend either a Fun or Sanction match, and the Premium lists are piling up on my desk.

Speaking of shows, plans are now in the workings for the Atlantic Terrier Association's Booster which is to be held this year in Fredericton, NB. Judge to be announced later. Specialty 2004 is looming on the horizon, ATA members will begin discussions on this event at the February meeting.

Yippeel! this gal is finally going to get a look at Westminster up close and personal. 10 Airedales entered, and special hospitality set up for all Airedalers to meet and greet, can't wait!

2003 will hopefully see one planned litter on the ground, and, Ch. On Eagle's Wings At Hollytroy (Jacob) will hit the campaign trail. Also, looking forward to attending Terrier Breeders and our National Booster in May.

3. DO NOT compress your images for emailing
4. Send one image (picture) at a time (other wise, it takes forever to download)

Got a favorite photo of your Airedale? We are having a photo contest with the winners to appear in the Spring issue of the King's Herald. There will be a prize offered for the first 3 placing in each category.

Categories:

Airedales & Nature
Airedales & Kids
Airedales & Friends
Adorable Puppies

What makes a great photo? It's well composed sharply focused on the subject (the background can be 'soft'), has good lighting and color, and has that extra 'something special'. That might be drama, a unique angle, humor ... very likely it means the subject does not appear to be conscious of the camera.

Please send your photos to Pam or Helen and include your name, address, dog's call & reg. name, and which category you would like your photo in. Please include a stamped, self addressed envelope. The photos will be judged by a group of non-members.

Deadline is March 15, 2003
